SOMETHING WORSE THAN INFORMERS

On one page of the Bangor Commercial of last evening, is a sullen and unwilling retraction of gross falsehoods and slanders which it had published concerning the sheriff of this county and on another the editor grows lustful applause among the politicians and brothels of the city by pouring out a tirade of abuse upon that official for the manner in which he is putting a stop to the unlawful traffic of some of that paper's constituents. The chief point seized upon for the handspiking of the sluts is the charge that informers have been employed by the sheriff. On this charge the editor rings the changes of denunciation and epithet, dishes up the history of Ireland and drags Curran into a relevant support of the keepers of the prison dens with whom the communities of Bangor. The editorial harangue would be striking in its pomposity and what has been quite styled hop-skiddle if the same were not frequently served it up in very slightly modified form whenever it wished to drive up the boys to be ridden just before election. The journals we sent originally aimed at a sheriff of this sort servilge on numerous occasions when the seizure of some unfortunate's stock of stretch-me-neckey has diminished the sounding of an alum against the destruction of American liberties.

Now we might expect some complaint from the Commercial of interference with a traffic in which its party thrives but when up soon on Limerick well known in the community as Marcellus Emery presumes to apply the epithet traitorous to a citizen of so good character and repute as Simon C. Jerrard the general feeling among respectable people will be that the editor would make a very fitting ornament for the stocks. Whatever criticism may be made upon the Sheriff's manner of discharging a most difficult official task in dealing with the plague-spots which are polluting our streets and crime in our midst the sober and reputable citizens of Bangor of whatever position or calling, will regard the scandalous assaults on the Commercial is worthy of its author, Marcellus Emery and the wages which he earns in the support of the worst classes of society

But we wish to remind the editor who quotes Lamb and then translates it for the benefit of the "Devil's Half Acre," that there is a class known to society as more vicious and despicable than the "informer," and the people of Bangor will recognize the truthfulness of our words when we denounce the conductor of the Bangor Democrat and Commercial as a persistent, professional, PANDER to the worst instincts passions, prejudices and vices of the most ignorant depraved and dangerous portion of the community. In the early days of the rebellion he pandered to the instincts of cowardice and disloyalty; when mobs were burning negro asylums and murdering Union soldiers in New York, he pandered to violence and revolution throughout the country he pandered to treason in all its shapes, and since then he has pandered to the blood-thirsty work of the Ku-Klux and the bolder sections of the White Leaguers. He has pandered to the spirit which prompted the massacre of unarmed processionists in an American city, he has encouraged and then defended the ruffianism which has disturbed public meetings in Bangor, he has pandered to immorality by filthy allusions and the parade of salacious matter; he has pandered to ignorance by assailing our public schools, he has pandered to gambling by editorial championship; and on all occasions he has pandered to the vilest type of the traffic in intoxicating liquors and been the abusive defender of every Democratic disturber of the peace and welfare of the community who has fallen into the clutches of the law. In testimony whereof we call the memory of our citizens and the columns of those two papers to witness!

Men may and do differ as to the most desirable and effectual methods to be employed by our public officers in suppressing the frightful traffic which is working such wide-spread misery and ruin, but no good citizen will have any sympathy with those who are pandering to the evil and seeking to inflame public feeling against the officers of the law for the benefit of the vile groggeries and dens of vice which are filling our station-houses and jails and sending families to the alms-house. A death from delirium tremens during the week; thirteen drunken men in the lock-up on Sunday, with more left out for lack of accommodations, the arousing of people from their slumbers in the early hours of Sabbath morning by the horrible profane outcries of an inebriate in charge of the police—these are facts which appeal to the sober sense of the community and show that, whatever theories may be entertained, this is no time for self-respecting people to throw their moral influence in favor of the promoters of these evils. With such facts staring us in the face, as electioneering appeal for the rallying of the combined elements of disorder in the interests of a political party which thus promises them its favor, is an outrage upon society which demands a withering rebuke from those who represent the intelligence, the honest industry and the moral sentiment of Bangor, at the polls.

THE DEMOCRATIC "ARGUMENT."

A person unacquainted with the character of the people of Maine would naturally infer that only a community of idiots would be addressed with such twaddle and slang as constitutes the whole basis of Democratic newspaper appeal for popular support. Throughout the campaign they have acted as if entirely unaware that our citizens are among the most intelligent and well-informed of any in the Union and they apparently think that such a people can be driven in an unreasoning mass like a herd of sheep, simply by setting the loudest-mouthed and most vulgar of the Democratic organs at work shouting abuse of individuals and howling for a "change."

As a specimen of the kind of "argument" which forms the basis and substance of the Democratic harangue and which might more reasonably be supposed to be addressed to a population of Esquimaux than to the people of the State of Maine, we quote the following just as it appeared in display type in the Portland Press.

> They are for a change of men and measures. The have tried the present one, and have seen about as much as they can stand of it. Now they go for a change without a why or wherefore. A CHANGE is the party cry. A CHANGE is the political watchword now. A CHANGE is what the people will decree at the Ballot box this week to-day, and a CHANGE will save the country.

Surely the thinking men of Maine must find that very cogent reasoning. We are not told what particular faults or ills found with the administration of public affairs under Governors Dingley, Perham and their predecessors who have received so many evidences of public esteem, nor are we told what particular measures enacted of course by the people's representatives, have become so suddenly unbearable. We are not informed in what respect the management of our State finances or our other departments by the officers now in charge thereof has failed to satisfy the public, or wherein we are to find improvement by a change. The reason for these omissions from the Democratic appeal is very simple and obvious no argument can be advanced in favor of a "change" because the public interests are well and faithfully served at the present time. Hence the Argus simply opens its mouth to its widest extent and proposes to stampede the people by bellowing at them that

"Now they go for a change WITHOUT A WHY OR WHEREFORE.

If the Argus believed any such nonsense as the above it would find itself seriously mistaken. We know that the Democrats can only hope for support which is content to ask no questions, but for mostly the large portion of the voters of this State are disposed to consider before they act and they will seriously ask themselves "WHY" and "WHEREFORE" ere they become entirely enthusiastic for a "change" from the present satisfactory conduct of our state affairs to the suggestive possibilities of an administration controlled by Marcellus Emery and Eben Fuller-bury. And looking beyond our own state this will ask WHY giving support a Mahone Bill Allen's repudiation candidates in Ohio should be favorable to the public interests and "WHEREFORE" we should seek to "save the country" by handing it over to the men who have unceasingly labored during the past fifteen years to destroy it. We opine that the Argus and its confederates will find the "whys" and "wherefores" very much esoteric things in dealing with the clear-headed and sound hearted people of Maine.

ROBERTS AND BILL ALLEN.

[From the Kennebec Journal]

William Allen, the Democratic candidate of Ohio, is an advocate of inflation and repudiation, as everybody knows. We have then the utterances of the Bangor Commercial to indicate the sympathy of General Roberts with Mr. Allen. In that he appears we were right, for the Commercial is pleased to say so. We will say that GENERAL ROBERTS HIMSELF DOES MOST HEARTILY DESIRE THE ELECTION OF ALLEN IN OHIO.

The leading Democratic paper of the county, the New York World, expresses in the following words its opinion of Mr Allen

> The truth of the whole matter is that GOV ALLEN wants the Democracy of the United States to help him rebuild A BIGGER BANK THAN JACKSON CRUSHED, or else (the only alternative) to begin sliding down to THE ABYSS OF REPUDIATION.

Thus according to this high Democratic authority the election of Mr. Allen would be a long stride towards the old monopoly which Jackson crushed or eventual repudiation. And yet General Roberts HEARTILY DESIRES the election of Allen and the success of the pernicious principles which he holds to.

THE AUGUSTA RALLY

The Kennebec Journal says "The meeting at Granite Hall Friday evening was worthy of the distinguished orator who addressed it, and worthy of the Republican party and the Capital of the State of Maine. The spacious Hall was filled to its utmost capacity by an intelligent, interested, earnest assemblage, graced by the presence of many of the ladies of our own and sister cities.

In another column will be found a report of the speech of Senator Morrill, which was impressively delivered, and made a telling effect upon the hearers. It was a solid, able, masterly presentation of facts and arguments, going to show why the Democratic party cannot be trusted to rule this country under existing circumstances, and why the Republicans should be sustained and continued in power. Every Republican who heard it had his faith in Republican principles strengthened, and went home prepared to work vigorously in the approaching new as auspiciously opened.

The meeting was a grand success in all respects. Let us keep the ball moving from now until election.

THE SAN FRANCISCO CRASH.

[From the Boston Advertiser]

The Bank of California was chartered by the legislature of the State of California about 1864, and in 1865 commenced its career. Its capital at the start was two millions of dollars; it is was afterward increased to five millions. Its president for many years was Mr. D. O. Mills, who at the time of its foundation was a banker in Sacramento. He afterward removed to San Francisco, where he continued the banking business. The bank enjoyed the services, also, of an able board of directors; all of them wealthy men and intimately connected with the great and growing interests of California. The moving spirit of the bank was William C. Ralston, its cashier. Originally from one of the Mississippi valley States, he had all the dash and audacity of the West in his youthful form. He had long been engaged in banking in San Francisco, and at the time the Bank of California was started was one of the firm of Donahue, Kelley & Co.

It was the purpose of the founders of the bank to foster the legitimate and growing business of California, to facilitate the transaction of its business, to infuse steadiness and certainty in management, and while it gave its influence to the support of the national cause—then so recently jeopardized,—to join with others in a hotbed in the State of California to oppose payment, thereby to prevent the fluctuations in prices which have been the bane of the Atlantic States in the past decade. Accordingly the bank never issued bills. Gold room, Gold or silver were its only recognized tenders. It was a bank of deposit of loans and discounts, and it likewise dealt in exchange. The directors were not in the habit of meeting for the purpose of discussing and discounting notes offered by their depositors,—as in the custom with Eastern banks,—but the bank let sums, large or small, on collaterals or personal security, and dealt as the flat of William C. Ralston. His power has been no greater, and his functions have been no more extended, since for the last three or four years he has been president, than during the time he served as cashier. He is a man of wonderful nerve and grasp and force. His comprehension was ready and almost intuitive, and his decision followed as quickly, so that he was able to despatch an immense amount of business. The directors were in the habit of passing in due form upon all business, but it was generally after transactions were decided upon and had gone into effect.

That Mr. Ralston had the confidence of the directors was shown by the fact of his election to the presidency. There were however, some elements in his character as a man of large public life which did not fail to strike eastern men with surprise, if they did not occasion laughing. Not to mention other matters, his notoriously extravagant style of living was beyond anything even known to any other cashier. We have several times printed letters from California in which the fact was alluded to. His country seat was thirty miles away from San Francisco, down the San Jose valley, and it was his delight to express himself up to the city, by relays of horses, with the speed of the fleetest train. Every visitor of consequence to the State was entertained by Ralston. It was nothing strange for him to entertain seventy or thirty guests. And this meant carriages, servants, wine, cigars and lodging in sumptuous style. Under his administration the bank drew its exchanges on Heidelberg and more recently upon Ludlow & Co. of New York, upon the Imperial Bank at Boston, and upon the Oriental Bank at London. Its exchanges ranked with the best. By means of its hurricane Virginia City mine it had the power to advantage and seemingly enjoyed great prosperity. It fostered enterprises that gave good promise when in the right hands. The celebrated Mission woolen mills, which now turn out the finest blankets in the world, were aided by a loan of $40,000 in a critical moment by the bank. Its operations were of a most extensive character. For some years past by the new "crowd" proved strong enough to cripple the Ralston "bank crowd" at every step, which was not a difficult task when the latter were staggering under a load of ill-judged speculations in a period of dwindling values throughout the world. As unlucky men in politics, the fierce attacks of the independent press and the necessity of propping up sinking speculations, hastened and completed the ruin of Ralston and his mismanaged Bank of California. For more than a year they have been "riding a dead horse." Presidents Ralston, yesterday committed suicide. His world not what to meet the anger of the people raised by the collapse of the institution in which he was a leading light. Self-murder in such cases is had recourse to as an escape from shame and the reproaches of the duped, whose fortunes have been grabbed away. It would, however, be unjust to character for the community if speculators would recognize that the dishonor bestows in the gambling quite as much as in the discovery.

The Portland Press remarks: "The editor of the Augusta Advocate is in the ludicrous condition of mind which reminds one of a bovine in the height of fly time that has been bereft of his natural means of defense. The only matter which troubles him is about a certificate for paper man which he says he didn't give, but which the general inference is that he did give. He had better drop the matter, since in his last confession he admits the purchase of four more paper men. Don't waste yourself in personal explanations on that rather venerable joke of spelling a man's name wrong. Help your State Committee elect W. D. Hayden of Madison.

In Maine Gen. Roberts, the Democratic candidate for Governor, was anxious that "watch-fires should be lighted;" and now the Republicans are making it brighter and a great deal better than he wished.—Boston Journal.

Gen. Fitz John Porter, who has direction to John Kelly, has removed the keeper of the Central Park receiving reservoir, after twenty-four years of faithful service, to make room for a Tammany ward politician of the Irish persuasion. And the reform rolls on.

THE SAN FRANCISCO PANIC.

Liabilities of the Suspended Bank.

RALSTON'S DEATH CAUSED BY APOPLEXY

Confidence Returning—No More Suspensions.

Where Wall Street Lays the Responsibility of the Failure.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 It is said in Wall street that the Bank of Nevada was directly responsible for the failure of the Bank of California, the managers of that institution having effected a corner simultaneously in mining stocks and gold. There are many who attribute the suspension solely to the reckless extravagance of the bank managers. The First National Bank, the agent in this city for the National Gold and Trust Company of San Francisco has between $6,000 and $7,000 to the credit of that institution. It is stated that one of the results of the failure of the Bank of California will be the abandonment of the projected National Telegraph Company.

Effect of the Failure on Manufacturing Companies.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27—Midnight. It is difficult at present to state the effect of the Ralston failure upon the manufacturing enterprises in which he was interested. It seemed that the Kimball Manufacturing Co. will hardly survive the shock. The rolling mills are in a better condition. The Cornell watch factory will probably be seriously crippled.

On Mining Stocks.

The effect of the failure on mining stocks cannot be estimated at present as there is no market, all business being suspended.

Ralston's Statements Friday

All the public interviews yesterday and to-day Mr. Ralston stated expressly that the suspension was not owing to any losses met by adverse parties, and that the loss of nothing prevented between himself and parties who have been credited with the back-up of coin. He repeated that assertion Thursday evening in the presence of other parties, but as the reporter left the room Ralston followed him into the hall and said, "The statements I have made as to the causes of the failure are my statements to the world as a matter of personal and private information. I tell you that this failure is the result of a specific effort for months to break this bank. Extra precautions were taken by the police to preserve order and the evening passed over undisturbed.

Supposed Liabilities $14,000,000—Assets $7 000,000.

No official statement has yet been made of the condition of the Bank of California. The directors applied to Flood & O'Brien on the day of the failure for relief, and offered to present to that firm the entire paid up capital stock of the bank namely $5,000 000, also $2,500 000 in the bank and in addition $1 000 000 to be assessed on the stockholders—in all $7,500,000—provided Flood & O'Brien would assume the liabilities of the bank. The proposition being declined the bank had to suspend. There is no doubt that the liabilities of the bank are $14 000 000 and the available assets not far from $7 000,000, which will shrink considerably before realized.

The True Condition of the Bank

had been concealed from the directors up to Thursday. At the meeting of the directors held at one o'clock yesterday when Ralston entered the room, Mr. Mills promptly asked him to resign as president. Ralston replied at once. Mills then asked him to leave the room and he did so. The directors were still in session when the news was brought that Ralston had drowned himself. The directors professed to be astonished at the developments showing the true condition of the bank. The stockholders will lose their stock and to pay the liabilities will have to stand an assessment of probably 50 per cent. Some $3 000,000 of liabilities are in the form of accommodations made by one of the leading capitalists to strengthen the bank. Ex Gov Stanford holds $400,000 of these acceptances. Ralston's body was placed in a casket and taken to the residence of Col Ely his father in law. The coroner will hold an inquest to-day. The funeral will take place Sunday.

Circular Notes Afloat

LONDON Aug 28 The Standard says the circular notes of the Bank of California are somewhat largely held by travellers, but they may soon be paid under an arrangement now pending.

The Public Confidence Returning.

NEW YORK, Aug 28 The Post says The first despatch in which we place implicit confidence is to a leading banking house here and says the Panic over. Confidence returning. Come scrip, but transfers from New York will probably be returned. The transfers referred to are those made yesterday through the Sub-Treasurer. Bankers putting gold into the Sub-Treasury here and on telegraphic notification taking it out of the San Francisco Treasury.

Anglesey said to be the cause of Ralston's death

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 28 Statements of the attending physicians go to show that the death of Ralston resulted from apoplexy while bathing yesterday. Ralston transferred all his property to Senator Sharon for the benefit of his creditors.

What Ralston proposed to the Directors.

At a meeting of the Trustees of the Bank of California yesterday Mr. Ralston promised that if the management was left in his hands he would pay dollar for dollar to the depositors and 50 cents on the dollar to the stockholders, but after a receiving discussion it was decided to accept the resignation.

The effect of the Failure on Mining Shares.

Considerable difference of opinion exists among the leading stock operators as to the effect of the shares when business opens, some claiming that it will have a beneficial effect, especially as regards the Bonanza mines, as those controlling them will now have better facilities for working them, as the mills owned by the bank party will probably pass into their hands. Others take a less hopeful view of the situation.

The Affairs of the Bank in the Hands of the Executive Committee.

The affairs of the Bank of California have been put into the hands of the Executive Committee. Some say D. O. Mills, the Vice President of the bank has not owned a share of stock for the last three years.

The assets and liabilities.

Reliable information shows that the liabilities will be upwards of $14,000,000, and reliable assets from $7 000,000 to $8,000,000. The principal stockholders will probably have to be assessed 40 to 45 cents on the dollar to pay off the liabilities.

Resolutions Passed on the Late Ralston.

The Pacific Stock Exchange this afternoon adopted resolutions deploring the death of Ralston, a faithful friend, valuable citizen and champion of the city and State, extending the sympathy of the board to his family, and resolving to attend the funeral in a body. The San Francisco Exchange appointed a committee to wait on Mrs Ralston to tender the sympathy of the board. They will attend the funeral in a body.

Startling Disclosures Promised.

The Board of Directors of the Bank of California refuse to make public any facts ascertained as to the actions of the late president until after the funeral when startling disclosures are promised. The bank will pay 80 per cent. to depositors. An autopsy was made to-day on the body of Ralston and the coroner will give the result to the jury Tuesday.

The Manufacturing Interests Apparently Unaffected.

The various manufacturing enterprises in this city, in which Ralston was interested, show no signs of weakness. Real estate dealers say the effect of the coin transfers by the U. S. Treasury yesterday upon that branch of business will be rather beneficial than otherwise.

The Merchants Exchange Bank to Resume Business.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29. The city is quiet to-day. The Secretary of the Merchants Exchange Bank to-day states that the bank will resume in the morning without doubt. Transfers from the U. S. Treasury and coin collected from local sources has placed him in a condition to go on as usual, and no run is anticipated to-morrow.

No more suspensions anticipated.

The National Gold Bank and Trust Co. report favorable progress, but will not open for several days, but it is confidently believed it will pass without suspension. A large proportion of the paper of this company is in a condition to satisfy all demands on presentation, and a general disposition is evinced to render aid and extension to those who need it.

Resuming Business.

In the city churches to-day the attendance was unusually large, drawn by the memorial sermons on the death of Ralston. The general tenor of the discourses was eulogistic of the popular, able and generous character of the deceased.

The Funeral

to-morrow will undoubtedly be very imposing. A great number of civic and military societies with other public and cooperative bodies have signified their intention of attending, and a large concourse of citizens will unite in paying the last honor to the dead.

SUDDEN DEATH. We learn from the New York Palladium that Clarence H. Kent, a young man formerly of Bangor, died in that city on Sunday Aug 22, from a malignant pustule, a cause of death which is quite rare but which defies medical treatment. It first appeared as a slight abrasion on the upper lip but rapidly extended in a darkly swollen ulceration to the throat and vital organs. He was employed in the car department of the New Haven R. R., and is highly spoken of. His mother who resides in this city was notified by telegraph of her sad loss.

Such portion of the net proceeds of this sale as is not required for immediate use, has been placed on deposit at satisfactory rates of interest. We learn that the deceased was about 30 years of age, a Catholic priest at Waterville, and had received a fine education in France. Services were held in St John's church Saturday morning over the remains which were taken to Waterville on the train.

Burglary at Lincoln Centre

GATES AND BUTTERFIELD'S STORE ENTERED, THE SAFE BLOWN OPEN AND $180 STOLEN.

The inhabitants of Lincoln Centre were considerably excited Saturday over a burglary committed there during Friday night. The object of the robbers was to obtain money from an old fashioned safe in the store of Gates & Butterfield, in which besides the money belonging to the firm, was a sum deposited by people of the neighborhood for safe keeping. The burglars, it being supposed that there were two, were evidently burglars as they blew open the safe with powder instead of using a "jimmy" or "pinch bar" as the professional gentry would have done. It appears that they placed the safe on its side upon some dry goods taken from the shelves, poured powder into the key hole, which was quite large and after piling the remains of the clerk and other goods found in the store on to and about the safe, fired the powder by means of a piece of fuse inserted in the key hole and held firmly in place by jamming in a portion of a bar of soap. The explosion was heard by some people in the vicinity; but the, thought nothing of the matter until the robbery was discovered.

The safe was completely wrecked by the explosion and the goods piled about it set on fire, some of the cloths being badly burned, but the thieves drenched them with water and then took a package of money containing $180, which belonged to several depositors. Among a pile of notes and other papers was a package containing $200 which the robbers missed, in their hurried search. They took some crackers and cheese and with the money decamped.

The loss to the firm whose goods were badly damaged by fire and water was not known Saturday but will be considerable heavy. Suspicion rests upon a young man who put long ago broke into the store and being caught settled the matter. He left the place Thursday ostensibly to go West, and Friday evening was seen on the railway crossing near the "Centre" walking in that direction and was accosted by a man who knew him. He is now missing and is being hunted for. Between Lincoln and Oldtown remnants of some crackers and cheese were found yesterday and it is thought he and his accomplice, if he had one, lunched there during Saturday night. The police here are on the lookout and will be notified elsewhere.

The Post-Office

Mr. Editor Your remarks in Saturday morning's paper relative to the Post-office in this city strongly reminds me of certain other facts connected with the same subject which may not be without interest. Within the memory of the writer a mail from Augusta to the East including not only Bangor and the Eastern counties, but also all places between Augusta and Bangor and also the Province of New Brunswick, was carried once a week on horseback and on one occasion he recollects the old horse coming over the route with two weeks mail on his back, and the driver astride the whole. The immense amount of mail matter now daily passing over the same course would seem to make such a story almost incredible. Two days time was thus employed to perform the service from Augusta to this city. How great the contrast between that day and this is very strikingly demonstrated by the little incident that on Thursday morning of this week he received from Chicago an acknowledgement of remittance which left the city on Friday evening previous, being five days including Sunday.

In those days too no letters were posted without a wrapper securely tied up, with a way-bill indicating the post-offices to and from which the letter was going, with the date number and amount as regularly entered as any invoice of goods between merchants. Letters passing beyond Portland were packed together addressed "Westward," there overhauled and redirected to places beyond. "Blanks, wrapping paper and twine were in those days the chief articles of scandal against the administration, and its employes were "Credit Mobilier" and "Crooked-Whiskey" rings now play their part.

It was a later day when the postage rates of those times disappeared and the great invention of postage stamps came into use. How long would the present generation stand a tax of 25 cents of New York and 183 cents to Boston, and double or triple that if the letter within a dollar bill or other enclosure should happen to seek a passage. The young men and women of 1875 have little idea how their grandparents got along here who were born no longer ago than 1821.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT

AUGUST (CRIMINAL) TERM.

HON. JOHN A. PETERS, Justice Presiding. JASPER HUTCHINGS, ESQ., County Atty. RUEL SMITH, Esq., Stenographer.

About forty cases were disposed of Saturday. The juries will probably be discharged to-morrow afternoon.

In the case of James Mcguire the jury disagreed, standing 8 to 4 in favor of the defendant.

The only case tried was State vs. William Murphy, assault and seizure. The jury found a verdict of guilty.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL

The Republican State Central Committee of Louisiana, a New Orleans despatch announces, have agreed to reorganize the party on the basis of an early resumption of specie payments, continued reduction of taxation, free education, opposition to secession, substantial administration and punishment for outrages on public station, and for all assaults upon personal rights.

We regret that the Roman priesthood are in Ohio still less; but they thrust themselves in. We deplore the alliance of even the Democratic party and the Roman priesthood; but it has been proclaimed by the official organ of the priesthood. An Archbishop even now declared that a politician's party is defined by the Democrats in so far as to enter its independence for votes controlled by the Roman priesthood; but the fact is thrust upon the public.—Cincinnati Gazette (Rep.)

We should be the last to say that the Democratic party is opposed to our free school system. It has as stanch defenders among Democrats as among Republicans, but being allied so closely with a powerful body which is under control of a clergy hostile to the schools, a temptation to conform legislation to the interests of this great auxiliary body of voters is strong, and the virtues of professed politicians are proverbially weak.—Cincinnati Commercial (Ind.)

A black man, with a sober visage and white cravat, arrived in Boston the other day, and went straightway over to Charlestown. Solemnly he marched to the foot of Bunker Hill monument, and took off his hat in its shadow. Then he called out in a loud voice, "William Graves!" and answered himself, "Here!" And then he said, "But I am a free man, by the grace of God and the proclamation of the Martyr President." He used to be a slave of Robert Toombs in Georgia, and he had come all the way to Bunker Hill to get off this little sarcasm on this old master's wild boast that he would live to call the roll of his slaves from the foot of Bunker Hill.

CONSUMPTION

MANSION HOUSE HOTEL,
BALTIMORE, Md., October 20, 1871.

MR JAMES I. FELLOWS.

Dear Sir: I have just finished the use of one bottle of your Estimable Syrup of the Hypophosphites. To its use I ascribe cessation of cough, sharp pains in my back and chest, and of copious expectoration also, return of appetite, buoyancy of spirits, increase of flesh and strength to perform my daily duties with a degree of pleasure unknown to me for a long time. The good I have experienced from it is beyond description, and I advise all persons afflicted with consumption not to delay a day in taking it. Feeling sure that were it not for your Hypophosphites, I would now be in my grave. Yours truly,

Many who are suffering from the effects of the warm weather and are debilitated, are advised by physicians to take moderate amounts of whisky, two or three times during the day. In a little while those who adopt this advice frequently increase the number of "drinks," and in time become confirmed inebriates. A beverage which will not create thirst for intoxicating liquors and which is intended especially for the benefit of debilitated persons, whether at home or abroad, is Dr. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic. Containing the juices of many medicinal herbs, this preparation does not create an appetite for the intoxicating cup. The nourishing and the life-supporting properties of many valuable natural productions contained in it are well known to medical men have a most strengthening influence. A single bottle of the Tonic will demonstrate its valuable qualities. For debility arising from sickness, over exertion from any cause whatever a wineglassful of it should be taken after meals will strengthen the stomach and create an appetite for wholesome food. To all who are about leaving their homes, we desire to say that the excellent effects of Dr. Schenck's seasonable remedies, Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, are particularly evident when taken by those who are injuriously affected by a change of water and diet. No person should leave home without taking a supply of these safeguards along. For sale by all Druggists.

GOD BLESS THE FARM.

God bless the farm—the dear old farm!
God bless it every rood,
Where willing hearts and sturdy arms
Can earn an honest livelihood—
Can farm the coarse and fertile soil
Wrench back a recompense for toil.

God bless each meadow field and nook,
Begemmed with fairest flowers,
And every land that's gently shook
By evening breeze or morning showers—
God bless them all! each clear'n gem
In nature's gorgeous diadem

The orchards that, in early spring,
Disdain to be the rival flowers
And with each autumn surely bring
Their wealth of fruits to golden showers,
Like pomegranates on Aaron's rod,
A miracle from Nature's God.

And may he bless the farmer's home
Where peace and plenty reign,
No tempest yet unsafe to roam
Don't this broad beauteous earth contain
Those where contentment care and strife,
The farmer leads the peaceful life

Give zest by art and tricks for gain
He turns the fertile soil,
Then scatters on the golden grain
And reaps a hundred fold
He dwells where grace and beauty charm,
For God hath blessed his home and farm

FALL FALLOWING—KEEPING MILK

I find the advantages of fall fallowing to be first, by the decomposition of the sod and soil it becomes available plant food in the early part of the next season I have seen a difference of ten days in the ripening of ears. Rose potatoes, caused by fall fallowing I have known early cabbages to be two weeks earlier on land fall fallowed

Second—By killing witch grass and weeds I have known it to save three-fourths of the hand-hoeing necessary for clean cultivation

Third—By killing the worms I have known potatoes dug in September to be perfectly smooth on fallowed land but in the same row on land not fallowed they were very much eaten

Fourth—It leaves the land in good condition for very wet or very dry weather.

Fifth—It gives one an opportunity to gather as large a quantity of material to be used as an absorbent in the barn cellar or elsewhere as they may desire Two years ago the drouth problem looked to me like a difficult one to solve Two public lectures and a railroad ran through our farm and the need of another earth has been hotly served on the subject I then had by digging material for the barn cellar there is a dry farm swamp meadow in which there is first rate meadow mud It is of good grass land It by the side of the railroad and near the farm I determined to get the clay without having appropriated and unpleasant looking place in which I allowed to go to the depth for my absorbent My plans after plowing out every tenth furrow from the most fertile part of the field until I have pulled up a ton and a half I will use a couple in this barn yard near the cellar so that with a wide furrow I can be taken in as wanted What was gained last fall is split still better to use now With the cellar doors which we take off in the summer I intend to put a tight roof, and put in a watery substance in the wet weather of harvest to use the dry material absorb the liquid manure thereby keeping the cellar in a valuable working order

KETUN MUK

Dog days and flies have come How shall we keep pure, milk sweet and keep the flies out of it? Butter and cheese makers have much to say about the necessity of good cleanliness in handling the milk Running that if they cannot keep the cows off pollute them in any other way or does well as which they put the milk from the cow with all the cold odors and essences rotten putrefactive matter I think the more we can retain in the milk and keep it sweet the better for it is to be used as food

The way to keep it cold the milk in it with ice is one of the best ways to do it. My system now sets to put it in the coolest spot in and put it in the well as soon as possible after it is drawn. We have been in the habit of pumping water and letting the cows drink it two or three hours, with the supposition before putting it in the well the vessels in the milk and it would be better to put it in the well before the milk is drawn. Now after milking the morning milk I put in the well the night pail, and proceed to wait for the milkman. He takes both milkings at night and puts in the cans. We have had a refrigerator, but have now got a better plan of putting it in well water running

On well three or four feet deep three cans will be sufficient. I tested on the cold water system and found the butter would come in the granny satisfactory to the milkman by giving him a little more when it was cold than when warm. We kept water by changing it in the tub in which we kept the milk and in the fall out of the well
